

Site visit at the Nanyo Kohatsu Sugar Mill factory

Since this spring, CNMI encountered repeated devastating effect from the super typhoons. My heart goes out to all those still recovering from the devastating aftermath.

On August 28th, Consul Tomi visited Mount Carmel School to see the sugar mill factory built by the Nanyo Kohatsu during the Japanese administration period.

The facility was used by the school as art and music class and library until 2015.

The school is located in Chalan Kanoa, where there are many reminiscent building left behind related to Nanyo Kohatsu.
